SCHEDULE

THE UNDERGROUND TOUR

is Seattle's most unusual attraction, a humorous stroll through intriguing subterranean storefronts and sidewalks entombed when the city rebuilt on top of itself after the Great Fire of 1889.

The 75-minute guided walking tour begins beneath Doc Maynard's Public House, then spills into historic Pioneer Square, Seattle's birthplace, before plunging underground again for an exclusive, time-capsule view of the buried city.

It's the only way to tour the interconnecting tunnels of the world-famous Seattle Underground—don't be fooled by impostors.

All the while, tour guides regale you with sidesplitting stories our pioneers didn't want you to hear. It's history with punch lines!

(Be prepared for uneven terrain, spotty lighting, and flights of stairs. Dress for the weather—and leave those spike heels at home!)

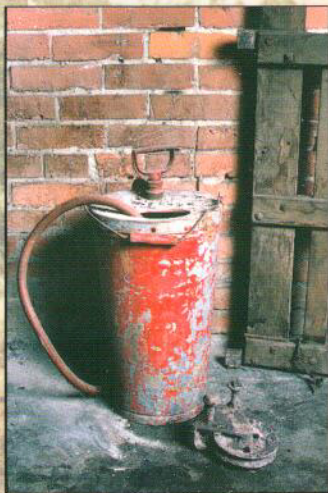

The tour ends in Rogues Gallery and the Underground Gift Shop, where you'll find displays depicting the past, and Northwest memorabilia.

TIME TO EAT

Doc Maynard's—suitable for the entire family—offers affordable snacks, breakfast and lunch, including fresh Northwest seasonal fare and a full bar. Or order the specialty-priced lunch-and-tour combo when you purchase your tickets. (The tour starts with a 15-minute seated introduction, convenient for a quick bite before heading underground.) You're sitting in cobblestoned Pioneer Place Park, with its famous glass and cast iron pergola, when you enjoy outdoor seating at Doc's. The striking pergola was a cable car stop built for the 1909 Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition, Seattle's first world's fair.

PIONEER SQUARE

The Underground Tour makes its home in the heart of the city's oldest neighborhood, Pioneer Square. Explore cobblestoned parks, Victorian-era buildings, huge authentic totem poles, tiny Waterfall Park, art galleries, outdoor performance art and games, restaurants, boutique shops, and Smith Tower, Seattle's most beloved skyscraper and once the tallest building outside New York. "Skid Row," originally "Skid Road," was coined to describe Pioneer Square,
