Program Calendar

July

11 Children's Author Storytime: On the second Tuesday of each month, AWM welcomes a new children's author in its children's gallery. Meet your favorite books' creators and illustrators, get your book signed, and hear a story from some of the most inspiring and creative children's authors writing today. Presented in partnership with the Society of Children's Book Authors and Illustrators.

July 11: Ilene Cooper, author of A Woman in the House (and Senate): How Women Came to the United States Congress, Broke Down Barriers, and Changed the Country, the Absolutely Lucy series and Jake's Best Thumb, among other books.

For preschool-age children with a caregiver. Free. Museum admission not included.

12 Reading/Signing: Identity Unknown: Rediscovering Seven American Women Artists Who hasn't wondered where—aside from Georgia O'Keeffe and Frida Kahlo—all the women artists are? In many art books, they've been marginalized with cold efficiency, summarily dismissed in the captions of group photographs with the phrase "identity unknown" while each male is named. Donna Seaman brings to dazzling life seven of these forgotten artists, among the best of their day: Gertrude Abercrombie, with her dark, surreal paintings and friendships with Dizzy Gillespie and Sonny Rollins; Bay Area self-portraitist Joan Brown; Ree Morton, with her witty, oddly beautiful constructions; Lois Mailou Jones of the Harlem Renaissance; Lenore Tawney, who combined weaving and sculpture when art and craft were considered mutually exclusive; Christina Ramberg, whose unsettling works drew on pop culture and advertising; and Louise Nevelson, an art-world superstar in her heyday but omitted from recent surveys of her era.

Wednesday, July 12th, 5:30pm, Readers Hall. $5 suggested donation.

13 University of Chicago Writer's Studio Master Series; Searching for It in Jack Kerouac's On the Road With its propulsive force and thrumming momentum, On the Road has long been heralded (and occasionally reviled) for its spontaneous prose style, a seemingly effortless translation of thought to the page. Beneath that surface is a hard-scrubbed effort, a mining of mind and craft that provides valuable lessons on the writing process and the struggles that define it. Through close reading, discussion, and in-class prompts, we will probe Kerouac's use of point of view; commanding and sensory details; intimate and imagistic descriptions; and spontaneous prose. Mining his work challenges us to reach beyond what we think to get at what we really think, to discover the less evident, often uncomfortable mysteries that fuel writing which resonates and shimmers on the page. Thursday, July 13, Readers Hall, 6-9pm. Cost: $100...includes museum entry.

In preparation for class, please read the first chapter and 6-10 in Part III of On the Road. For a digital copy, please contact writersstudio@uchicago.edu.

About the Instructor: Writer's Studio instructor Lauren Cowen is the author of three essay collections, including the New York Times bestseller Daughters and Mothers, and a host of pieces in publications such as Chicago magazine. Her work has also been featured on NPR.

About the Writer's Studio: The University of Chicago Writer's Studio in downtown Chicago is a creative home to adult writers of all genres and ambitions. We offer open-enrollment, non credit classes designed to inspire and challenge as well as manuscript consultations and free community events. Learn more at grahamsschool.uchicago.edu/write.

20 Workshop: Publishing: In today's crowded media landscape, how do you sell your book or short story? How do you make your mark with your writing? In this one-day workshop author David Berner (October Song: A Memoir of Music and the Journey of Time, Roundfire Press 2017) teaches you how to find your way through the complicated process of getting your words out.

Thursday, July 20, Readers Hall, 7pm. $50 per person.

22 Immigrant Writing in America At a time when immigrants are perceived as a threat to society, particularly from the Arab world, a space for them to deliver their own story is desperately needed. Join Deepak Unnikrishnan—author of the critically acclaimed novel Temporary People, about guest workers in the United Arab Emirates' capital Abu Dhabi—in conversation with Ilan Stavans, internationally renowned cultural critic and publisher of Restless Books, as well as Lewis-Sebring Professor in Latin American and Latino Culture at Amherst College. The dialogue, followed by a Q&A, will explore the role the literature of immigration in the United States plays in our conception of pluralism and tolerance.

Saturday, July 22, Readers Hall, 2pm. Free with museum admission.

27 The Swiss Army Knife of Plants: A History of the Palm: The Horticulturist from the Chicago Park District conservatories discusses the history of palms, their botanical uses, and the palms in the historic Garfield Park Conservatory Palm House.

Thursday, July 27, Meijer Gallery, 5pm. General public. $5 suggested donation.

August

1 Reading/Signing: Dipika Mukherjee - Shambala Junction Iris is visiting India from the U.S. for the first time with her fiancé, and not enjoying it. When she steps off the train for a water at Shambala Junction, little does she know her life is about to undergo a radical change. Along the way, she finds real friendship, learns what counts and grows to love the country.

Tuesday, August 1, Readers Hall, 5pm. General public. $5 suggested donation.

3 Reading/Signing: Curators: Behind the Scenes of Natural History Museums After three decades as a natural history curator, author Lance Grande found that he still had to explain to people what he does. This book is the answer—and, oh, what an answer it is: lively, exciting, up-to-date, it offers a portrait of curators and their research like none we've seen, one that conveys the intellectual excitement and the educational and social value of curation. Grande uses the personal story of his own career—most of it spent at Chicago's storied Field Museum—to structure his account as he explores the value of research and collections, the importance of public engagement, changing ecological and ethical considerations, and the impact of rapidly improving technology.

Thursday, August 3, Readers Hall, 6pm. General public. $5 suggested donation or free with museum admission.

8 Children's Author Storytime: On the second Tuesday of each month, AWM welcomes a new children's author in its children's gallery. Meet your favorite books' creators and illustrators, get your book signed, and hear a story from some of the most inspiring and creative children's authors writing today. Presented in partnership with the Society of Children's Book Authors and Illustrators.

August 8: Janet Nolan, author of Seven and a Half Tons of Steel, The Firehouse Light, PB&J Hoorary and other books.

For preschool-age children with a caregiver. Free. Museum admission not included.

19 Chicago Literary Hall of Fame Induction of Roger Ebert Beloved film critic Roger Ebert will be inducted into the Chicago Literary Hall of Fame. Reception begins at 6pm, with the ceremony starting at seven. A score of old colleagues and friends will give tribute to Ebert as part of his induction into the CLHOF's seventh class. His widow, Chaz Ebert, will be on hand to accept the statue.

Saturday, August 19, 6pm, Readers Hall. General public. $5 suggested donation to AWM and CLHOF.
