

YOUR RIDE THROUGH HISTORY

begins at our historic 1881 Thomaston Station, currently under restoration. Board our restored vintage coaches and prepare to see a side of the Naugatuck Valley that you just can't get from your car! Your ride along the Naugatuck River hugs the river's edge, passing through state forest lands. This is contrasted by the industrial heritage of Waterbury's brass mills, where thousands of men and women toiled daily in the "Brass City." We complete our journey with a view from the spectacular Thomaston Dam. Leave time to tour the displays at our depot and explore the charming village of Thomaston.

THE NAUGATUCK RAILROAD

The original Naugatuck Railroad was chartered in 1845, and opened in 1849 between Bridgeport and Winsted, adjacent to the Naugatuck River. In 1887, the New York, New Haven & Hartford leased the operation, making it part of its vast New England transportation network. Regular passenger service north of Waterbury ended in 1958. The state of Connecticut purchased the line between Waterbury and Torrington in 1982, and leased it to a freight operator until regular service ended in 1995. After 150 years, the future of the historic line was in question...

At the same time, the Railroad Museum of New England (RMNE) was looking for a new home to continue its mission of preservation. The old Naugatuck Railroad name was restored by state charter on June 7, 1995. After months of upgrades and repairs by RMNE volunteers the first passenger trains ran in 1996. The Naugatuck Railroad is an all-volunteer operation working to preserve our New England railroad heritage. Welcome aboard!

RMNE: FOUR DECADES STRONG

The Railroad Museum of New England, Inc. (RMNE) is a not-for-profit educational and historical organization founded in January 1968. Our mission is to tell the story of the region's rich railroad heritage through our exhibits and operations. Thank you for your support!

JOIN RMNE TODAY!

From restoring and operating our vintage railroad equipment, to planning events or helping out in our gift shop, there's something for every interest. Please visit www.rmne.org or ask a volunteer how to get involved!

GROUPS AND CHARTERS

Why not charter a rail car or an entire train? For your corporate outing, family reunion, birthday or wedding, you can reserve your own private car or even charter an entire train to suit your own schedule. Save money with large groups! With advance reservations, we will gladly provide seating together for your group. Bus tour groups are also welcome. Please call us at (860) 283-7245 to discuss options and pricing. All aboard!
