EXHIBITIONS

Free with Museum admission

Complimentary guided exhibition tours:
Wednesdays at Noon starting October 23

Inside Out: Women's Fashion from Foundation to Silhouette focuses on how women have shaped American society and how undergarments have shaped them against a backdrop of fashion, sociological changes and political climate. Visitors will walk through eight key eras in American history, exploring the perceived roles of women in American culture from the 1790s to the present, how those roles have shaped — and been shaped by — what women wear, feminist ideas and movements since the nation's earliest days, and the outward appearance and silhouette of stylish American women through time.

This exhibition was organized by the San Angelo Museum of Fine Arts with the support of the Ben and Beverly Stribling Special Exhibition Trust and circulated through GuestCurator Traveling Exhibitions.

EXHIBITIONS

May 10, 2020

Free with Museum

Complimentary guided exhibition tours:
Wednesdays at Noon
starting February 5

Walk This Way: Historic Footwear from the Stuart Weitzman Collection explores how shoes have transcended their utilitarian purpose to become representations of culture — coveted as objects of desire, designed with artistic consideration, and expressing complicated meanings of femininity, power, and aspiration for women and men alike. Featuring 100 pairs of shoes from iconic designer Stuart Weitzman's extensive private collection assembled over three decades with his wife Jane Gershon Weitzman, the exhibition covers larger trends in American economic history, from industrialization to the rise of consumer culture, with a focus on women's contributions as producers, consumers, designers, and entrepreneurs. This exhibition has been organized by the New-York Historical Society.

FLAGLER'S

SHOE DRIVE

The Flagler's Spirit team is partnering with Shoes2You to collect new and gently used shoes during the Winter Exhibition. Shoes2You was founded in March 2014 by Joseph Rubsamen, an Oxbridge Academy alumni, who was inspired to help those living in poverty who needed shoes. The Flagler Museum will serve as a collection site for new and gently used shoes and donations will go to many in need, both locally and globally.

FREE CLASSROOM OUTREACH PROGRAMS

Pom-pom Pallet Workshop

Pre-K; one session

In this interactive program, little learners are introduced to big topics such as “what is a museum?” while being exposed to fine art from the Museum’s collection. Children will identify colors and develop fine motor skills by selecting pom-poms from containers and placing them on a matching color within a painting.

Young Curators Workshop

1st graders; multiple sessions

In this early learning program, students discover different types of museums and learn about the role museums serve in society, exploring why we collect and how we organize and care for collections. Using objects from the Museum as a starting point, students practice creating connections between objects, museums, local history and themselves. Working in groups, these young curators design, discuss and present their own exhibitions.

Kidnapped in Key West

4th graders; one session

This program introduces fourth grade students to the story of how Henry Flagler helped develop Florida through the building of railroads and hotels, and established agriculture and tourism as the state’s top industries. In conjunction with the children’s historical fiction book, Kidnapped in Key West, students follow Flagler’s journey south along Florida’s East Coast Railway. The program culminates in an exciting reenactment of Flagler’s arrival in Key West.

IMPACT Workshop

4th graders; multiple sessions

The Intergenerational Mentor Program for Art, Culture, and Technology (IMPACT) seeks to enrich local history curriculum with meaningful art and cultural education. Flagler Museum Mentors work with students to help them gain knowledge of America’s Gilded Age, the development of modern Florida, and the life and legacy of Henry Flagler.

The Eighth Wonder of the World STEAM Workshop

5th - 8th graders; one session

Working in teams, students are introduced to Design Thinking as they come together to understand the scientific ingenuity and innovation behind the engineering feat of Flagler’s Over-Sea Railroad, once called the Eighth Wonder of the World. Each team must work together to design a section of the Over-Sea Railroad while maintaining a budget to buy supplies for its success.

Education programs are supported in part by The Fortin Foundation, the Eric Friedheim Foundation, the Sharkey Family Foundation, and Whitehall Society Members.

YING QUARTET

January 14, 2020

First Flagler Museum Concert: 2011

The Ying Quartet occupies a position of unique prominence in the classical music world, combining brilliantly communicative performances with a fearlessly imaginative view of chamber music in today's world. Now in its third decade, the Quartet has established itself as an ensemble of the highest musical qualifications. Their performances regularly take place in many of the world's most important concert halls; at the same time, the Quartet's belief that concert music can also be a meaningful part of everyday life has also drawn the foursome to perform in settings as diverse as the workplace, schools, juvenile prisons, and the White House. In fact, the Ying Quartet's constant quest to explore the creative possibilities of the string quartet has led it to an unusually diverse array of musical projects and interests.

As quartet-in-residence at the prestigious Eastman School of Music in Rochester, NY, the Ying Quartet teaches in the string department and leads a rigorous, sequentially designed chamber music program. The Quartet is the ensemble-in-residence at the Bowdoin International Music Festival, and from 2001-2008, the members of the Ying Quartet were the Blodgett Artists-in-Residence at Harvard University.

When the Flaglers were in residence at Whitehall, they often enjoyed hosting guests in the Music Room including the Fortnightly Club, a local group that gathered to listen to speakers and musical performances, and to discuss current events. The Flagler Museum honors the social history of the Music Room by presenting Fortnightly, Reimagined, a special engagement featuring both professional musicians and music students from the University of North Carolina School of the Arts who specialize in organ performance. This year, musician Matthew Cates will be delighting guests with the sounds of Whitehall's 1,249-pipe J.H. & C.S. Odell Co. organ, an instrument original to the home. Rachel Barton Pine will be performing exquisite violin pieces. A reception with the musicians will follow the performance.

AURÉOLE TRIO

January 28, 2020

First Flagler Museum Concert: 2005

Auréole, the world-renowned chamber ensemble, has been delighting audiences with imaginative and ground-breaking programs for over 25 years. The sound of flute, viola, and harp conjures a landscape that can encompass the stillness and quiet of an impressionist sunset, and the wild abandon of a folk dance. It brings together the three essential timbres of an orchestra—wind, string and percussion—into a uniquely colorful and versatile chamber music ensemble.

These consummate musicians, flutist Laura Gilbert, violist Mary Hammann, and harpist Stacey Shames, have a passionate desire to bring their remarkable repertoire—much of which they had a role in creating—to listeners throughout the world. With fourteen recordings in its discography, Auréole is the most widely recorded and best-known trio of its kind. Their yearly tours are a favorite of chamber music audiences, who have come to love and appreciate their dynamic artistry.

EUCLID QUARTET

February 11, 2020

First Flagler Museum Concert: 2012

Celebrating its 18th anniversary season, the Euclid Quartet enjoys one of the most highly regarded reputations of any chamber ensemble of its generation, with its members constituting a multinational mix representing four continents: violinist Jameson Cooper (Great Britain), violinist Brendan Shea (United States), violist Luis Enrique Vargas (Venezuela), cellist Jacqueline Choi (South Korea). Captivating audiences and critics ranging from Carnegie Hall to school classrooms to radio and television broadcasts, the quartet consistently performs to enthusiastic acclaim throughout the country.

Formed in Ohio in 1998, the Euclid Quartet takes its name from the famous Euclid Avenue in Cleveland, home to a wealth of renowned artistic and cultural institutions. Within three years, the ensemble was awarded the String Quartet Fellowship of the Aspen Music Festival, where it was invited to return for the subsequent summer's concert season. The quartet was also invited to study with the Emerson String Quartet at the Carnegie Hall Professional Training Workshop.

AMERICAN STRING QUARTET

February 25, 2020

First Flagler Museum Concert: 2010

Internationally recognized as one of the world's finest quartets, the American String Quartet has spent decades honing the luxurious sound for which it is famous. The Quartet will celebrate its 45th anniversary in 2019, and, in its years of touring, has performed in all fifty states and has appeared in the most important concert halls worldwide. The group's presentations of the complete quartets of Beethoven, Schubert, Schoenberg, Bartók, and Mozart have won widespread critical acclaim, and their MusicMasters Complete Mozart String Quartets, performed on a matched quartet set of instruments by Stradivarius, are widely considered to have set the standard for this repertoire.

Formed when its original members were students at The Juilliard School, the American String Quartet's career began with the group winning both the Coleman Competition and the Naumburg Award in the same year. Resident quartet at the Aspen Music Festival since 1974 and at the Manhattan School of Music in New York since 1984, the American has also served as resident quartet at the Taos School of Music, the Peabody Conservatory, and the Van Cliburn International Piano Competition.

CLAREMONT STRING TRIO

March 10, 2020

First Flagler Museum Concert: 2007

Lauded as "one of America's finest young chamber groups" by Strad Magazine, the Claremont Trio is sought after for its thrillingly virtuosic and richly communicative performances. First winners of the Kalichstein-Laredo-Robinson International Trio Award and the only piano trio ever to win the Young Concert Artists International Auditions, the Claremonts are consistently lauded for their "aesthetic maturity, interpretive depth, and exuberance" (Palm Beach Daily News).

TRANSFORMATIVE CONSERVATION: RETURNING THE WHITEHALL DINING ROOM FURNITURE TO ITS ORIGINAL GRANDEUR

December 11, 2019 at 3:00 pm

Whitehall's original ca. 1900 French Renaissance-style dining room furniture, the work of the noted New York firm of Pottier and Stymus, passed through several owners before its fortunate reacquisition by the Flagler Museum in 2018. Conservator F. Carey Howlett will speak on the discoveries made during research and examination of the furniture as well as the massive, multi-faceted project by F. Carey Howlett & Associates to conserve the furniture for its return to the Whitehall Dining Room. From start to finish the project took over a year, and the results of this transformative conservation will provide visitors to Whitehall with amazing insight into the artisanship and skill of the designers, cabinetmakers, upholsterers and finishers who helped to furnish Henry Flagler's Palm Beach home.

MARJORIE MERRIWEATHER POST: THE LIFE BEHIND THE LUXURY February 18, 2020 at 3:00 pm

"The Life Behind the Luxury" is the new biography of Marjorie Merriweather Post. As owner of Postum Cereal Company, and later a director of General Foods Corporation, Post capably created and managed a 20th-century life of luxury. While her good works made the news during times of war and economic crisis, it was not Post's ability to read a spreadsheet for which was often noted in newspapers and magazines. Instead, her social gatherings, clothes, four marriages, four divorces, and her father's suicide got more ink. Her life was syndicated news. Author Estella M. Chung goes further, however, in revealing Post to be an astute business executive, a deeply caring and generous humanitarian, and a committed philanthropist.

In a time when the spirit of expansion was sweeping across a growing nation, few men found themselves equipped with the necessary resources to envision and build a railroad empire. Captains of industry Jay Gould, Collis Huntington, and Cornelius Vanderbilt did however, and each of them, in their own time, carved out a legendary place in history. Celebrated and sometimes vilified for bringing industrial progress to new territory, the 35th annual Whitehall Lecture Series will present the fascinating histories of American railroad empires and the powerful industry pioneers who built them.

AMERICA'S MAINLINE: THE FIGHT FOR THE SOUTHWEST TRANSCONTINENTAL

February 9, 2020

Speaker: Walter R. Borneman

After the completion of the first transcontinental railroad, the next challenge was to build an even better, more direct route through the American Southwest. Led by shrewd empire builders, dozens of rival railroads aggressively constructed lines through the West in a transcontinental contest that lasted more than a quarter of a century. "America's Mainline" will explore the battles and the eventual victory of what remains the country's mainline between Chicago and Los Angeles.

THE FIRST TYCOON: THE EPIC LIFE OF CORNELIUS VANDERBILT

February 16, 2020

Speaker: T.J. Stiles

Two-time Pulitzer Prize winner T.J. Stiles tells the epic story of "Commodore"

Cornelius Vanderbilt, one of the richest and most powerful figures in world history. Stiles describes the three decisive leaps Vanderbilt made on his way from the deck of a sailboat to command of a railroad empire. Brilliant and ruthless, Vanderbilt helped to invent the modern corporate economy amid wars, social upheaval, and family turmoil.

THE LIFE AND LEGEND OF JAY GOULD: NOTORIOUS RAILROAD PIONEER AND CAPTAIN OF INDUSTRY

February 23, 2020

Speaker: Maury Klein

By far the most notorious and hated financier of his time, Jay Gould stunned the business world first by saving the Union Pacific Railroad from bankruptcy and then, after acquiring the Missouri Pacific Railroad, used it as the core of a new southwestern rail system that pioneered the economic development of that region.

EMPIRE EXPRESS: THE BUILDING OF THE FIRST TRANSCONTINENTAL RAILROAD

March 1, 2020

Speaker: David Haward Bain

The Transcontinental Railroad as a project signified the dawn of a new era. "Empire

Express" is the story of a new and unfathomable enterprise to connect far off places from the big cities in the East to indigenous settlements across the great unknown of the West. Sealed with the driving in of the Golden Spike in the Utah desert in 1869, and shrouded in scandal soon after, the Railroad represented the legacy of enterprise in American business, and the development of the American character.
